Wednesday

Wednesday Maths:

Name the shape: (orally answer these as a warm up)

A shape that has 6 faces: Cube or Cuboid

A shape that has 12 vertices and has a rectangle 2D shape in it: Cuboid

A shape that has at least 2 edges and two flat faces: Cube, Cuboid, triangular prism or a triangular pyramid

A shape that has 6 faces that are all the same size and that cannot roll: Cube

A shape that can slide and roll: cylinder or a cone

A shape that cannot be stacked and has no vertices: Sphere

A shape that has a 2D triangle in it: Prism

ANSWER KEY

TEST - 3D SHAPES

Which 3D Shapes can roll, slide, or stack?

Complete the chart.

3. Look at the 3D shapes that you drew on day 1 (Monday)

What 2D shapes are in each 3D shape? (get a real-life everyday object if you need help identifying the shape) List in your copies. PS.

Some have two 2D shapes.

1. Cube: square

2. Cuboid: rectangle

3. Triangular prism: triangle

4.

Cylinder: circle

5. Cone: circle and triangle

6. Sphere: circle

6.

Pyramid: triangle

Wednesday Music:

a)

1. This music is traditionally from Vietnam. It is called Vietnamese music.
  2. Some traditional Vietnamese musical instruments are monochord zither, moon-shaped two-string lute and pear-shaped lute with four strings. One of the best-known instruments is the Đàn Tranh or the 16-string Zither. They also use bamboo, brass se (a triangle like instrument) or the hne (like the oboe). In the musical piece Ha Long Bay, they use Dan Tranh, bamboo flute, Tam Thap Luc and traditional drums, Trong coms.
  3. The music makes me feel .....eg relaxed and peaceful because the instruments have soft sounds and are played slowly. I can imagine myself meditating to this music.
  4. This traditional music is much different to pop music in Ireland today. We use computers and technology to create, tone and autotune the sounds and voices in pop music. Another difference is that pop songs have singers which this music didn't have. Most pop songs wouldn't have hand drums or wind instruments such as flutes/oboes whereas this style of music does.
- b) Draw what you see in your imagination when listening to the song.

Friday Literacy:

Wish carefully

Do you have a little brother? I do! Is your little brother a pain? Mine is! In fact, my little brother makes my life really miserable.

It started the day Mum and Dad brought him home. Back then all he ever seemed to do was scream and make a mess—and he hasn't changed a bit. He has the world's loudest voice. I'm sure you could hear him from outer space—which I think would be a great place for him to go.

It is so messy. I've tried to tell him food should go in his mouth and not all around it, all over him and on my things. Not that I have things anymore. He thinks he owns everything and he can do whatever he wants with them. Even Mum can't stop him messing up my things.

He keeps Mum and Dad so busy that they never have any time for me. I sit in my room all the time, hiding from him with the door closed, reading books.

I love scary books. Last night I read about a short chant that made things vanish. You just have to hold your hands out in front of your nose, close your eyes, think hard about what you want to disappear, say the chant out loud twice and turn around three times.

The girl in the story tried to make her friend's grumpy dog disappear. I don't know if it worked because my little brother got my door open, grabbed my book, ran away and hid it. I was really, really, really mad.

Has anyone found my book? Has anyone seen my little brother?

Friday Gaelge:

Friday SPHE:

For example:

This year I want to.....start everyday with a positive thought and list the things that I am grateful for to train my brain to see the good things in life.

One thing I would like to do again.....a sunrise hike up Croaghmuckros because I felt so fresh and loved the idea that I was up before the rest of the world. The sunrise was beautiful and the colours were mesmerising.

My goals for this year ... to get seven thousand steps in daily, drink at least 2 litres of water daily and to make time to call or facetime family and friends instead of texting.

This year I can't wait to ..... try new things, go new places and rebuild friendships with people I lost touch with.
